~~1. Plaintiff brings~~ Plaintiffs bring this action ~~on behalf of itself~~ individually and on behalf of a plaintiff class consisting of all entities that purchased pork<sup>1</sup> indirectly from a Defendant or co-conspirator in the United States during the Class Period for their own business use in commercial food preparation from at least January 1, 2009 until the present (the “Class Period”). ~~Plaintiff brings~~<sup>2</sup> Plaintiffs bring this action against Defendants for injunctive relief and treble damages under the antitrust laws of the United States and various state antitrust, consumer protection and unfair trade practices, and unjust enrichment laws and ~~demands~~ demand a trial by jury.

Nature of the Action

1. ~~2.~~ The pork integrator-Defendants are the leading suppliers of pork in an industry with approximately $20 billion in annual commerce. The pork industry is highly concentrated, with a small number of large producers in the United States controlling supply. Defendants and their co-conspirators collectively control over 80 percent of the wholesale pork market.

<sup>1</sup> For the purposes of this complaint, pork includes pig meat purchased fresh or frozen, smoked ham, sausage and bacon. From time to time in this complaint, “pork” and “swine” are used interchangeably, particularly when referring to the pork or swine industry.

2. ~~3.~~ These Defendants, Agri Stats, Inc. (“Agri Stats”), Clemens Food Group, LLC (~~“The Clemens Family Corporation (collectively “Clemens”)~~), Hormel Foods Corporation, (~~“Hormel Foods, LLC (collectively “Hormel”)~~), Indiana Packers ~~Corporation (~~Corporation, Mitsubishi Corporation (Americas) (collectively “Indiana Packers”), JBS USA, ~~Seaboard Foods LLC (~~Food Company, JBS USA Food Company Holdings (“JBS” or “JBS USA”), Seaboard Foods LLC, Seaboard Corporation (collectively “Seaboard”), Smithfield Foods, Inc. (“Smithfield”), Triumph Foods, LLC (“Triumph”), Tyson Foods, Inc., Tyson Prepared Foods, Inc., and Tyson Fresh Meats, Inc. (collectively “Tyson”); entered into a conspiracy from at least 2009 to the present to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the price of pork. The principal (but not exclusive) method by which Defendants implemented and executed their conspiracy was by coordinating their output and limiting production with the intent and expected result of increasing pork prices in the United States. In furtherance of their conspiracy, Defendants exchanged detailed, competitively sensitive, and closely guarded non-public information about prices, capacity, sales volume and demand through their co-conspirator, Defendant Agri Stats.

3. ~~4.~~ Beginning in at least 2009, Agri Stats began providing highly sensitive “benchmarking” reports to the majority of pork integrators. Benchmarking allows competitors to compare their profits or performance against that of other companies. But Agri Stats’ reports are unlike those of other lawful industry reports. Agri Stats gathers detailed financial and production data from each of the pork integrators, standardizes this information, and produces customized reports and graphs for the co-conspirators. The type of information available in these reports is not the type of information that competitors would share with each other in a normal, competitive market. Instead, the provision of this detailed information acts as the modern equivalent of the proverbial smoke-filled room of the cartels of yesteryear. Agri Stats collected the pork integrators' competitively sensitive supply and pricing data and intentionally shared that information through detailed reports it provided to the pork integrators. On a weekly and monthly basis, Agri Stats provides the pork integrators with current and forward-looking sensitive information (such as profits, costs, prices and slaughter information), and regularly provides the keys to deciphering which data belongs to which producers. The effect of this information exchange was to allow the pork integrators to monitor each other's production and hence control supply and price.

5. ~~5.~~ This data exchange through Agri Stats bears all the hallmarks of the enforcement mechanism of a price-fixing scheme. First, the data is current and forward-looking – which courts consistently hold has “the greatest potential for generating anticompetitive effects.”<sup>23</sup> Second, information contained in Agri Stats reports is specific to pork producers, including information on profits, prices, costs and production levels, instead of being aggregated as industry averages, thus avoiding transactional specificity and easy identification of specific producers. Third, none of the Agri Stats information was publicly available. Agri Stats is a subscription service which required the co-conspirators to pay millions of dollars over the Class Period – far in excess of any other pricing and production indices. Agri Stats ensured that its detailed, sensitive business information was available only to the co-conspirators and not to any buyers in the market.

6. ~~6.~~The pork producers admitted in public calls that they had discussed production cuts at least once, and publicly signaled to each other that no supply increases would happen.

7. ~~7.~~In addition, there are numerous “plus factors” in the swine industry during the Class Period, including but not limited to multiple industry characteristics which facilitate collusion, such as high vertical integration, high barriers to entry, high pork industry consolidation and concentration, inelastic supply and demand, and a lack of significant substitutes for pork.

8. ~~8.~~Defendants’ restriction of pork supply had the intended purpose and effect of increasing pork prices to ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and class members. Beginning in 2009, the earnings of the integrators began to increase, as they took an increasing amount of the profits available in the pork industry. As a result of Defendants’ unlawful conduct, ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the classes paid artificially inflated prices for pork during the Class Period. Such prices exceeded the amount they would have paid if the price for pork had been determined by a competitive market. Thus, ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and class members were injured by Defendants’ conduct.

Jurisdiction and Venue

9. ~~9.~~~~Plaintiff—seeks~~Plaintiffs seek damages, restitution, treble damages, disgorgement, other monetary relief, injunctive and other equitable relief under various state antitrust, consumer protection and unfair trade practices laws, and state unjust enrichment laws, as alleged specifically herein, as well as costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, for the injuries that ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and all others similarly situated sustained as a result of Defendants' violations of those laws.

11. ~~10.~~ This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the state law claims under 28 U.S.C. § 1332 because the amount in controversy for each of the Classes exceeds $5,000,000, there are more than 100 members in each of the Classes, and there are members of some of the Classes who are citizens of different states than Defendants.

12. ~~11.~~ Venue is appropriate in this District under Sections 4, 12, and 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §§15, 22 and 26 and 28 U.S.C. §1391(b), (c) and (d), because one or more Defendants resided or transacted business in this District, is licensed to do business or is doing business in this District, and because a substantial portion of the affected interstate commerce described herein was carried out in this District. Defendant Hormel's headquarters are located in Minnesota.

13. ~~12.~~ This Court has personal jurisdiction over each Defendant because, inter alia, each Defendant: (a) transacted business throughout the United States, including in this District; (b) manufactured, sold, shipped, and/or delivered substantial quantities of pork throughout the United States, including this District; (c) had substantial contacts with the United States, including this District; and/or (d) engaged in an antitrust conspiracy that was directed at and had a direct, foreseeable, and intended effect of causing injury to the business or property of persons residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including this District.

15. ~~13.~~ The activities of the Defendants and all co-conspirators, as described herein, were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effects on the interstate commerce of the United States.

16. ~~14.~~ No other forum would be more convenient for the parties and witnesses to litigate this case.

Factual Background

49. ~~28.~~ Starting in at least 2009 and continuing to the present, Defendants coordinated to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize pork prices. To effectuate and ensure the stability of their anticompetitive agreement, Defendants relied on a unique industry data sharing service known as Agri Stats. Agri Stats provided a means for Defendants to obtain and monitor critical and competitively sensitive business information regarding each other's production metrics, thereby serving as a central and critical part of Defendants' price-fixing scheme, resulting in a stable and successful anticompetitive cartel.

A. Defendants' anticompetitive scheme started from Agri Stats' central role in collusion in the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry.

51. ~~29.~~ Agri Stats has played a central role in other industries, including collusion in the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry.<sup>4</sup> As alleged in the In re Broiler Chicken Antitrust Litigation, No. 16- cv- 08637 (N.D. Ill.), the ~~broiler~~Broiler producers used Agri Stats as a part of their conspiracy to restrain production and inflate prices.

52. ~~30.~~ In the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry, Agri Stats collected and disseminated to the other members of the conspiracy disaggregated financial information (such as monthly operating profit, sales and cost per live pound), production volumes, capacity, slaughter information, inventory levels, and sales data for finished product form and type, amongst other pieces of competitively sensitive business information. The Agri Stats reports contain line-by-line entries for plants, lines, and yields of various ~~broiler~~Broiler facilities. Agri Stats relied upon (and the co-conspirators agreed to) a detailed audit process to verify the accuracy of data from each ~~broiler~~Broiler producer's complex, sometimes directly contacting the ~~broiler~~Broiler Defendants to verify the data. Agri Stats also provided detailed price reports to the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry through its subsidiary, Express Markets, Inc., also known as EMI.

53. ~~31.~~ The detail of these reports ensured that competitors could quickly decode the information of their purported competitors. The Broiler complaints allege it was common knowledge that the detail of the Agri Stats reports allowed any reasonably informed producer to discern the identity of the competitors' individual ~~broiler~~Broiler complexes. The ~~broiler~~Broiler reports, in parts, contained so few producers participating <sup>4</sup> Broilers are chickens raised to be slaughtered before the age of 13 weeks.

that the identities were obvious. Other reports contained such detailed data that it could be matched with the publicly stated aggregate data for larger ~~broiler~~Broiler defendants such as Tyson. The complaints allege that Agri Stats purposefully circulated this information to top executives to facilitate agreement on supply, constraints, and price.

54. ~~32.~~In the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry, plaintiffs also alleged that Agri Stats – known to its co- conspirators to be a willing and informed conduit for illicit information exchanges – used public and semi-public forums to convey messages to industry participants that furthered the purposes of the conspiracy by reassuring conspirators that production cuts would continue, and by inducing them to continue to act in concert to ensure they did. Agri Stats’ own statements in the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry facilitated the implementation of the agreement to restrict supply.

55. ~~33.~~In denying defendants’ motions to dismiss in the In re Broiler Chicken Antitrust Litigation, the district court noted that given the nature of the Agri Stats reports, the defendants are in fact sharing future anticipated production information with one another, which ~~raise~~raises significant antitrust concerns.<sup>5</sup>

B. After success in the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry, Agri Stats ~~markets~~marketed its collusive scheme to the swine integrators.

56. ~~34.~~Beginning in at least 2008, Agri Stats began to propose a series of benchmarks to the swine industry along the lines of the benchmarks used to restrict competition in the ~~broiler~~Broiler industry. Benchmarking is the act of comparing practices, methods or performance against those of other companies.<sup>6</sup> Benchmarking of the type undertaken by Agri Stats and its co-conspirators here reduces strategic uncertainty in the market and changes the incentives for competitors to compete, thereby enabling companies to coordinate their market strategies and otherwise restrict competition. This is especially true where benchmarking involves the exchange of commercially sensitive information among competitors.

57. ~~35.~~In 2008, Greg Bilbrey of Agri Stats told swine industry producers that “Benchmarking in the swine industry could range from simple production comparisons to elaborate and sophisticated total production and financial comparisons. Each and every commercial swine operation is encouraged to participate in some benchmarking effort.”<sup>7</sup>

58. ~~36.~~Agri Stats emphasized to pork producers that the goal of the agreement to share information was profitability, not production, and invited pork producers again to participate in the benchmarking. Agri Stats emphasized that “We must remember that the ultimate goal is increasing profitability – not always increasing the level of production.” Furthermore, Agri Stats told the industry that “[e]ach swine production company should be participating in some type of benchmarking. To gain maximum benefit, production, cost and financial performance should all be part of the benchmarking program.<sup>8</sup>

59. ~~37.~~ In April 2009, Agri Stats again invited swine producers to design and operate their own benchmarking effort. Greg Bilbrey of Agri Stats invited swine producers to design and operate their own benchmarking effort: “Though all producers may not be part of or fit into an Agri Stats type benchmarking program, all producers could participate in benchmarking in some way. Commercial benchmarking opportunities are available.

Producer groups could design and operate their own benchmarking effort.<sup>9</sup>

60. ~~38.~~ The pork producers did accept this offer and, beginning no later than 2009, ~~created~~ started participating in the detailed benchmarking scheme based upon and found in the Agri Stats reports. Defendants’ agreement was to use the exchanged benchmarking information to coordinate supply and stabilize and increase prices of pork sold in the United States, to provide and receive information from Agri Stats, and to use this detailed sensitive information for the purposes of monitoring each other’s production and pricing. The agreement was successful as pork prices rose significantly after the agreement was reached.

61. ~~39.~~ The volume of U.S. commerce in the pork industry is enormous. Total pork sales in the United States for a portion of the Class Period were:

2016 - $18.9 billion
 2015 - $21.0 billion
 2014 - $26.4 billion
 2013 - $23.4 billion

<sup>9</sup> See Greg Bilbrey, Benchmarking and Tools to Maximize Profit, London Swine Conference – Tools of the Trade (April 1-2, 2009) \(emphasis added\).

62. ~~40.~~ Each Defendant's annual sales of pork products are also very large. For example, in 2016 Smithfield reported $3.7 billion of fresh pork sales, and an additional $5 billion in packaged pork product sales. That same year, Tyson reported $4.9 billion in pork sales. With such enormous revenues, the ability to stabilize or increase the margin even in small amounts has an enormous impact on profits.

C. Agri Stats provided pork integrators the unparalleled ability to monitor pricing and production, and to discipline co-conspirators for not complying with the collusive agreement.

63. ~~41.~~ Agri Stats provided pork integrators with an unparalleled ability to share critical and proprietary information concerning key business metrics, such as production levels and short and long-term production capacity. Agri Stats was key to the formation, operation and continuing stability of the Defendants' anticompetitive scheme. To effectuate their agreement, the participants had to have confidence that each member was following through with the agreement by limiting their production and stabilizing prices. Agri Stats served that function.

64. ~~42.~~ Each member of the conspiracy, ~~including swine integrators and~~ Defendants Clemens, Hormel, Indiana Packers, JBS USA, Seaboard, Smithfield, Triumph, and Tyson, were all Agri Stats subscribers and reported their information to Agri Stats. Agri Stats' parent company, Eli Lilly, stated that "over 90% of the poultry and pig market" uses Agri Stats in the United States.<sup>10</sup>

65. ~~43.~~ Agri Stats collects participant financial and production data electronically each month. Internal auditors convert the data, prepare it for comparison, and perform the monthly audits. Each company's financial data is reconciled to its general ledger to help ensure actual costs are reported. Raw numbers are used in Agri Stats' standardized calculations so all company numbers are calculated the sameway.<sup>11</sup>

66. ~~44.~~ Participants in the scheme received monthly detailed reports and graphs that allow them to compare their performance and costs to other participants, the average of all companies, the top 25 percent and the top five companies. Current month, previous quarter and previous twelve-month periods are reported. As of 2009, each monthly report contained nine sections for analysis and comparison: Performance Summary, Feed Mill, Ingredient Purchasing, Weaned Pig Production, Nursery, Finishing, Wean-to-Finish, Market Haul, Profit and Sales.<sup>12</sup> Participants may also receive an abbreviated Key Performance Indicator report, as well as, historical graphs.<sup>13</sup>

67. ~~45.~~ Because of the nature of the life of a hog, even current and historical information regarding the production numbers of hogs provides forward-looking supply information to competitors. The typical hog production cycle lasts about ~~4~~four years. This is a function of the hog biological cycle. Given the length of time needed to breed an existing sow, choose and retain offspring for breeding, and breed and rear the resulting crop of piglets, it takes nearly ~~2~~two years to substantially increase production.

68. ~~46.~~One presentation from Agri Stats shows the level of detail provided to competitors regarding profits in the pork market:<sup>14</sup>

69. ~~47.~~The purpose of these reports was not to provide better prices to customers or to lower the costs of production. Instead, the purpose was to improve the profitability of the co-conspirators. The particular Agri Stats report referenced above shows the ranking of each company in profitability, and compares the company to its competitors by providing the variance from the average. On information and belief, the Agri Stats report actually circulated to competitors contained even further detail. The same presentation informed pork integrators that one of the “Advantages for Top 25% in Profit” was the “Sales Price: $2 - $6/pkg.” (pkg refers to 100 kilograms.) This underlines that the purpose of these reports was not to allow customers to save more money through lower prices and more efficient production – in fact, the opposite was true, the purpose was the profitability of the Defendant companies and the impact was higher prices for pork customers.

70. ~~48.~~ Much of the information shared by Agri Stats and the other Defendants was unnecessary to achieve any benefits for customers. Exchanging individual company data (particularly current data on prices and costs) is not required to achieve major efficiencies.<sup>15</sup>

71. ~~49.~~ Agri Stats knew that it played a central role in this conspiracy. Agri Stats repeatedly touted its role in standardizing the costs across companies – allowing the companies to compare the “apples to apples” of its data analysis among competitors. One presentation from Agri Stats spoke directly on this point, pointing out to industry participants that they could not undertake such a detailed cost analysis among competitors ~~<https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/attachments/us-submissions-oecd-and->~~ without Agri Stats auditing and standardizing the data:<sup>16</sup>

72. ~~50.~~ Agri Stats stated that to ensure data contained in the reports was accurate, the participants had to “agree on calculation and data collection procedures,” they must “[d]etermine tolerance and outlier status and enforce,” they must “[h]ave an administrator to compile the data and enforce procedures,” and most importantly, “[e]ach participant has to commit.”<sup>17</sup>

73. ~~51.~~ In addition to these reports, Agri Stats’ account managers conducted on-site live reviews to assist with report utilization and analysis.<sup>18</sup> The information provided by Agri Stats was so detailed that clients frequently requested the site visits by Agri Stats employees ~~<https://www.slideshare.net/trufflemedia/greg-bilbrey-data-integrity-using-records>~~ ~~for~~ to assist the co-conspirators in understanding the intricacies and implications of the data. Agri Stats’ employees each possessed expertise in a specific area of production, and the value added by their insights was as important to the producers as the data in the books.

74. ~~52.~~ In May 2015, a subsidiary of Agri Stats, Express Markets, announced that it was adding its market analysis of pork to its product offerings in order to meet the broad information and knowledge needs of its customers. Express Markets started providing its extensive pricing reports to ~~broiler~~ Broiler producers in 2003.<sup>19</sup>

75. ~~53.~~ By providing detailed production statistics by producer, Agri Stats allowed each member of the conspiracy to monitor each other's ongoing adherence to agreed- upon plans for coordinated production limits. Critically, Agri Stats provided forward- looking data that allowed the other Defendants to determine each other's future production in addition to their current production.

<http://www.nationalhogfarmer.com/marketing/paragon->

76. ~~54.~~ Agri Stats reports are organized by company and facility, but the producers' names are not listed in the reports. Nevertheless, while nominally anonymous, the reports contain such detailed figures covering every aspect of pork production and sales that producers can accurately identify the companies behind the metrics. For example, long-time industry insiders are sufficiently familiar with each other to identify unique but recurring data points for other companies, as well as identify the other companies by general metrics and size.

77. ~~55.~~ Moreover, Agri Stats knew that the anonymity of its system was compromised ~~http://www.nationalhogfarmer.com/marketing/paragon~~ by individuals who had gleaned knowledge of competitors' identification numbers, but reassigning numbers was an arduous undertaking the company was not eager to embark on.

78. ~~56.~~ Suppliers received as many as one dozen books of data at the end of each quarter, augmented by smaller monthly update books featuring the latest year-to-date information. Within these smaller monthly books, each supplier's own rows of year-to-date numbers were highlighted. In the front of each book, there were also markings indicating whose numbers were inside the book. The front of the book also included information indicating which other companies were represented in the data, though which number represented each competitor was not revealed.

79. ~~57.~~ Agri Stats mailed the reports to customers. On occasion, Agri Stats shipped a producer's book to one of its competitors. At times, suppliers just kept their competitors' books for future reference, which as noted above revealed the identity of that producer given that their numbers were highlighted by Agri Stats in their books.

81. ~~58.~~ Mobility within the meat production industries led to a situation where many workers at most pork production operations knew the numbers of other regional facilities, removing any anonymization of the data which may have existed. Agri Stats would hire industry participants to work in its offices, and then they would return to the industry knowing each of the allegedly “anonymous” numbers. Those working at Agri Stats were aware of this fact, but did nothing to address it.

82. ~~59.~~ Agri Stats’ critical importance for a collusive scheme in the pork industry lies not only in the fact that it supplies the data necessary to coordinate production limitations and manipulate prices, but also in its stabilizing power. Anticompetitive cartels are subject to inherent instability in the absence of policing mechanisms, as each individual member of the cartel may have incentive to cheat on other members of the cartel, for example by ramping up pork production to capture higher prices as other cartel members limit production. Agri Stats’ detailed production statistics serve as an indispensable monitoring function, allowing each member of the cartel to police each other’s production figures (which were trustworthy because they had been verified) for signs of cheating.

83. ~~60.~~ In a February 15, 2017 Bloomberg article relating to Agri Stats’ roles in the ~~broiler~~ Broiler industry, it was reported:

Peter Carstensen, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin and former Justice Department antitrust lawyer who has studied Agri Stats while researching the modern poultry industry, casts the level of plant-by-plant detail in the company’s reports as “unusual.” He explains that information- sharing services in other industries tend to deal in averaged-out

aggregated data—for example, insurance rates in a given state. Such services run afoul of antitrust law, he says, when they offer projections or provide data so detailed that no competitor would reasonably share it with another. Getting detailed information is a particularly useful form of collusion, Carstensen says, because it allows co-conspirators to make sure they're all following through on the agreement. “This is one of the ways you do it. You make sure that your co-conspirators have the kind of information that gives them confidence—so they can trust you, that you're not cheating on them,” he says. “That is what creates stability for a cartel.”<sup>20</sup>

D. The pork industry is nearly fully vertically integrated, which allowed the scheme to succeed.

84. ~~64.~~ The pork production industry is almost completely vertically integrated, with four major producers controlling 75 percent of pork integration. Very large pork producers are commonly characterized as “contractors” or “integrators” who contract production of their hogs out to independent growers.<sup>21</sup> ~~Integration~~

85. Vertical integration by Defendants is so pervasive that ~~major producers~~ they are commonly called pork or swine integrators by the industry, government, analysts and academics. Vertical integration allows the integrator Defendants to directly control the production and supply of pork through their wholly owned and operated farms where the hogs are raised, fed and prepared for slaughter.

86. Under pork production contracts, “a contractor or integrator provides pigs or breeding stock, feed, and other services to a producer or grower who manages the hogs at his or her farm until animals are ready for market or transfer to other farms.”<sup>22</sup>

This arrangement essentially converts independent farmers into contract employees that perform services for the pork integrator. The Defendants typically pay only fixed service fees to the farmers, who bear the investment costs of the hog-raising facilities. The pork integrators (i.e. Defendants) typically retain ownership of the hogs and set the terms for how they are raised, allowing them to further control the supply of the pork on the market. The prevalence and use of contracts for hog production by Defendants increased significantly during the course of the conspiracy.

87. ~~62.~~In 2014, Smithfield had approximately 500 company-owned farms and approximately 2,190 contract farms in the United States. Smithfield described its arrangement with contract farms as follows:

Under our contract farm arrangements, contract farmers provide the initial facility investment, labor and frontline management in exchange for fixed service fees to raise hogs produced from our breeding stock under agreements typically ranging between five and ten years. We retain ownership of the hogs raised by our contract farmers. In 2014, approximately 76% of Smithfield’s hogs produced in the U.S. were finished on contract farms.<sup>2223</sup>

88. ~~63.~~Fully integrated companies have broad control over production processes, and near-total operational discretion in deciding how much to produce and when. As is clear from Smithfield’s annual report, under these arrangements, the pork integrators pay only fixed service fees to the farmers, who bear all of the investment costs of the hog-raising facilities. The pork integrator, here Smithfield, retains ownership of the hogs at all points in time. This arrangement essentially converts independent farmers that own their livestock into contract employees that perform services for the pork-packing industry.

89. In its 2017 SEC 10-K report, Defendant Seaboard Corporation states that it raises “over five million hogs annually primarily at facilities owned by Seaboard or at facilities owned and operated by third parties with whom Seaboard has grower contracts.”<sup>24</sup>

90. Defendant Clemens Food Group touts its vertical coordination on its website stating that, “Our vertically-coordinated company directly oversees the entire production chain, from the farm all the way to our retail and foodservice customers.”<sup>25</sup> A key part of Clemens’ vertical coordination efforts includes utilizing a hog procurement and production subsidiary, Country View Family Farms, which manages a network of 250 farms raising hogs under contract throughout Indiana, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.<sup>26</sup>

91. The Defendants further control the manner in which the pork is processed and have the ability to restrict and reduce supply through a number of means including capacity reductions, controlling slaughter rates, and exports. Several Defendants including Smithfield, Clemens, Tyson, and Hormel have divisions or subsidiaries that sell packaged pork under various name brands.

E. The level of concentration in the pork industry was optimal for Defendants' collusive scheme.

92. The United States Department of Agriculture ("USDA") has stated that high levels of market concentration allow the largest participants to extract more of the economic value from food transactions, but "consumers typically bear the burden, paying higher prices for goods of lower quality."<sup>27</sup>

93. The hog integration sector is horizontally concentrated (only a few companies buy, slaughter, and process the majority of hogs) and vertically integrated (pork packers have tight contractual relationships with hog producers throughout all stages of production). Meatpacking concentration levels are among the highest of any industry in the United States, and well above levels generally considered to elicit non-competitive behavior and result in adverse economic performance.

94. ~~64.~~ Prior to and in the beginning of the Class Period, the pork industry underwent a period of unprecedented concentration, resulting in a small number of pork integrators controlling a large amount of market share. Between 1980 and 2015, the top four pork integrators (Smithfield, Tyson, JBS, and Hormel) increased their market share from 34 percent in 1980 to 66 percent by 2015. The top eight integrators had a combined market share of well over 80 percent for the entire Class Period.

Meatpacking concentration levels are among the highest of any industry in the United States, and well above levels generally considered to elicit non-competitive behavior and result in adverse economic performance.~~

25. 66. In July 2015, JBS USA announced it would acquire Cargill's pork business for $1.45 billion. The acquisition joined the third and fourth largest pork packing companies to surpass Tyson and became the second largest hog processor in the United States, behind only Smithfield.

96. ~~67.~~ The acquisition was completed in October 2015 and resulted in further consolidation in the industry. The resulting pork business had pro forma net revenue of approximately ~~US~~$6.3 billion, and a processing capacity of about 90,000 hogs per day and two million pounds of bacon per week.<sup>~~23~~28</sup> After the acquisition closed, the new JBS-/ Cargill entity was twice as large as the next largest pork integrator (Hormel) and four times larger than the fifth and sixth largest firms (Triumph and Seaboard, each with under five percent of the national slaughter capacity).<sup>2429</sup>

By 2016, the top six pork processors totaled 82 percent of the total market, which equaled an HHI<sup>30</sup>

97. of 6724, confirming that this is a highly-concentrated market.<sup>31</sup> On their own, none of these competitors could exercise market power. But acting as a whole to manipulate the price of pork products, the combined market share of the six largest Defendants provides an HHI score well above the threshold for highly-concentrated markets. If Defendants colluded with one another to restrict the supply of pork in the market, as alleged in this action, the resulting market concentration of such concerted action gave Defendants more than sufficient power to control the pork market. Even without combining the largest six pork processors, the pork industry has a moderately concentrated HHI of 1532.

98. 68.Barriers to entry kept competitors out of the pork packing industry. New entry into pork processing is costly and time consuming. Construction of a large-scale slaughter facility would take hundreds of millions of dollars and the additional planning, design and permitting costs are substantial. In 2012, it cost Cargill $25 million just to expand an existing facility. Building a facility from scratch would be considerably more.<sup>2532</sup>

99. ~~69.~~The concentration level in the pork industry was optimal for collusion. WH Group Limited, the parent company of Smithfield, characterized the U.S. market pork industry as “relatively mature and concentrated.”<sup>2633</sup> Both of these factors – maturity and concentration – make an industry more susceptible to collusion.

100. ~~70.~~The level of concentration in the pork industry therefore rested in an ideal zone for collusion. Because the industry was dominated by a relative handful of integrators, it was feasible to manipulate price through an agreement among the relatively few dominant players, whose market power greatly simplified the organizational complexity of the price-fixing agreement. Further, because none of the largest producers were capable of independently controlling price through their own production, such an agreement was necessary to inflate price.

101. Concentration of the industry is also beneficial to the procurement of hogs by the pork processors. In some regions, consolidation has resulted in cases where only one pork processor is left to buy hogs from independent farmers, leaving the farmers with no leverage when negotiating terms with the pork processors.<sup>34</sup>

102. The prevalence of contracts in the market for hogs also serves as a barrier to entry. Most of the hogs produced in the U.S. are sold under a multi-year contract, typically to one of the Defendants. And in other situations, the processor owns the hog from farrow to finish. Even if a market entrant was able to outlay capital for the production of a new processing facility, it would have trouble finding enough hogs to operate that facility profitably.<sup>35</sup>

F. Defendants colluded in numerous settings.

103. Defendants are members of several industry trade associations and other forums, which they used to facilitate their conspiratorial conduct. Pork producers have many annual and other events through which they can communicate with one another in person, and Defendants' CEOs and top level executives regularly attend these events.

104. All pork producers and importers in the United States participate in a legislatively-mandated "Pork Checkoff," under which they pay an assessment when pigs are sold or pigs or imported into the United States. The money is used for programs to increase pork sales and exports, for research, and for producer and consumer education programs; funds cannot be used for lobbying or to influence government policy. The assessment amount and the amount to be returned to state pork associations for local programs is set annually by the Pork Act Delegate Body, which meets during the National Pork Producers Council's annual Pork Industry Forum. States are represented in the Delegate Body in proportion to their level of hog production, and each state is eligible to elect at least two

<sup>35</sup> See Timothy A. Wise and Sarah E. Trist, Buyer Power in U.S. Hog Markets: A Critical Review of the Literature, Global Development and Environment Institute, Working Paper No. 10-04 (August 2010), at p. 12.

Delegates. Executives from several producer Defendants have served as Pork Act Delegates.

105. The Pork Act Delegates also elect a 15-member National Pork Board (“Pork Board”), whose members are officially appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. The Pork Board works with Pork Checkoff staff to ensure collection and distribution of Pork Checkoff funds. Pork Board meetings have occurred in conjunction with a number of the important annual trade association meetings described below, including the National Pork Producers Council Pork Industry Forum, the National Pork Industry Conference, and the World Pork Expo. Executives from several producer Defendants have served as members of the Pork Board. For example, at least three executives associated with Smithfield Foods (Conley Nelson, Chris Hodges, and Michael Skahill) have served on the National Pork Board or its staff. Skahill is the Pork Board’s current Treasurer.

106. According to its website, “[t]he National Pork Producers Council [“NPPC”], which consists of 42 affiliated state associations, is the global voice for the U.S. pork industry, enhancing opportunities for the success of pork producers and other industry stakeholders by establishing the pork industry as a consistent and responsible supplier of high-quality pork to domestic and world markets.” Executives from the pork integrator Defendants have served on the NPPC Board of Directors during the Class Period, including: Cory Bollum of Hormel Foods, Don Butler of Smithfield Foods/Murphy-Brown LLC, Chris Hodges of Smithfield Foods, and Todd Neff of Tyson Fresh Meats.

107. NPPC conducts its annual business meeting and election of officers and directors during its “National Pork Industry Forum” typically held in early March each year.

NPPC advertises the National Pork Industry Forum as an opportunity for networking, as well as attending educational sessions. The event includes a candidate meet-and-greet, state caucuses, meals and receptions, and delegate sessions.

109. In addition to its annual National Pork Industry Forum, NPPC sponsors many other programs that have provided ample opportunities for Defendants to meet with each other in person, including:

- The annual “World Pork Expo” at the Iowa State Fairgrounds advertised as the “world’s largest pork-specific trade show.” It includes exhibits, seminars (including market outlook presentations), a golf tournament, and pre-show tours of industry-related organizations (including tours of producer farms). The National Pork Board has conducted its annual meeting to elect new officers during the World Pork Expo.
- Legislative Action conferences each spring and fall in Washington DC.
- A public policy Leadership Institute, which brings small groups of pork industry representatives together for a “comprehensive” training program “designed to develop future leaders for the pork industry.”

110. The National Pork Industry Conference (“NPIC”) has taken place in the Wisconsin Dells each July since 2010 (and in the Ozarks before that). Descriptions on the conference website have said that NPIC “is the largest annual conference in the US that is held for the swine industry,” and has had 750 to “over 900” attendees each year, representing “the Top 150 pork production systems in North America.” After the 2009 conference, Mark Greenwood, a Senior VP at lender Agstar, wrote in “Hog Farmer” that the swine industry must reduce sow numbers by at least 300,000 to 500,000 and urged “the larger production systems” to “follow Smithfield’s and Tysons’ lead on reducing sow

In July 2010, the Pork Checkoff website noted that pork producers had responded to lower prices in 2009 “by reducing the size of the national herd” and “[a]s a result, prices have rebounded.”<sup>37</sup> The website for the 2016 NPIC conference emphasized networking opportunities and promoted the “Focusing on Markets” session “led by industry economic experts.” Seaboard Foods and Smithfield Foods are among the producer Defendants whose executives have been session presenters at NPIC.

112. Upon information and belief, CEOs and top level executives from Defendants attending NPIC and NPPC events discuss topics with one another relating to pricing, production, and other non-public, proprietary information in a number of informal settings. These regular, informal, and in-person opportunities to discuss pricing and production in the pork industry give CEOs and top level executives comfort that their competitors remain committed to a plan to artificially restrict pork production.

113. In addition to the large pork industry associations, there are smaller pork clubs that permit members to meet regularly and privately discuss competitive issues. For example, the 21st Century Pork Club, founded in 1997 by former NPPC executive Larry Graham, meets twice a year. A March 2011 AgriMarketing article about the club states that it consisted of “60 industry stake holders” and that since its inception, the club’s two rules have been “nothing that was said in the meeting was to be repeated outside the group, with a name attached” and members will be dismissed from the group if they miss two meetings in a row without a valid reason.

114. Defendants were able to meet with each other not only at pork-specific events, but also at the many meetings, conferences, conventions, and expositions sponsored by the North American Meat Institute (“NAMI”), its predecessor, the American Meat Institute (“AMI”), and other organizations.

115. Until its 2015 merger into NAMI, AMI described itself as “the nation’s oldest and largest meat and poultry trade association.” AMI’s website routinely boasted that AMI’s Packer and Processor Members “cover 95 percent of the nation’s beef, pork, lamb and veal products and 70 percent of the nation’s turkey products” and touted the “excellent networking and information-sharing opportunities for members of the industry” provided by AMI’s “many meetings and educational seminars.”

116. NAMI was formed in 2015 by merging the AMI and the North American Meat Association. The NAMI website contains similar information, stating that NAMI is “a national trade association that represents companies that process 95 percent of red meat and 70 percent of turkey products in the US and their suppliers throughout America,” and its “many meetings and educational seminars ... provide excellent networking and information-sharing opportunities for members of the industry.”

117. Agri Stats and all of the pork integrator Defendants (or their closely-affiliated companies) have been members of AMI and then NAMI throughout the Class Period. Executives from the pork integrator Defendants have served on the AMI and NAMI Board of Directors during the Class Period, including:

- a. Mark Campbell and Rick Hoffman of Triumph Foods;
- b. Doug Clemens and Phil Clemens of Clemens Family Corporation;
- c. Tom Hayes, Jim Lochner, Mike Larson, and Sara Lilygren of Tyson Foods, Inc., as well as Greg Schweitzer of Sara Lee/Hillshire Brands (later acquired by Tyson Foods);
- d. Michael Skahill, Keira Lombardo, Robert “Bo” Manly, and Larry Pope of Smithfield Foods, Inc.;
- e. Gary Louis, Rod Brenneman and Terry Holton of Seaboard Foods;
- f. Andre Nogueira, Wesley Batista, Martin Dooley, Rich Vesta, and Bill Rupp of JBS USA;
- g. Jim Snee, Stephen Binder and Jeffrey Ettinger of Hormel Foods Corporation; and
- h. Gary Jacobson and Russ Yearwood of Indiana Packers Corporation.

119. Almost all of these executives also serve or have served on the 25-person AMI and/or NAMI Executive Committees, and several have been among the five officers of AMI or NAMI, including Sara Lilygren, of Tyson Foods, Jeffrey Ettinger of Hormel Foods Corporation, and Rod Brenneman of Seaboard Foods.

120. Throughout the Class Period, AMI (through 2014) or its offshoot the American Meat Institute Foundation (since 2015) has co-sponsored (with the Food Marketing Institute) the industry’s “Annual Meat Conference.” The conference website describes the conference as “a complete education and networking experience.” Many of the Defendants’ high-level executives attend the conference. For example, registered attendees in 2012 included Steven Binder, then the Executive VP President Hormel Business Units of Hormel Foods Corporation, as well as eight other Hormel executives; eight executives from executives; Chris Hodges, then Senior Vice President, Smithfield Foods and ten additional Smithfield Foods executives; and Blair Snyder and Brian Snyder, Chairman of the Board and President, respectively, of Agri Stats.

122. Throughout the Class Period, the Annual Meat Conference has included a plenary session focused on how economic issues affect the meat industry, usually entitled “The Economy and Its Impact on Your Business” or “Market Outlook for Meat and Poultry.” All (or almost all) of these sessions included a presentation on the pork industry by Steve Meyer, Ph.D., President of Paragon Economics until 2015 and then Vice President of Pork Analysis at Express Markets, Inc. (a subsidiary of Agri Stats, Inc.) through 2017. The description for the 2015 presentation stated that it would address “how you may need to adapt your business because of consumer spending trends, unemployment rates and industry capacity.” (emphasis added.) The descriptions of the 2016, 2017, and 2018 sessions were virtually identical to each other: “The economic impact of changing meat, poultry, and livestock supply and demand conditions provide challenges for producers and retailers alike. This session will take an in-depth look at the beef, pork, and poultry markets and explore how factors including weather, animal health, and changing export markets continue to impact domestic availability and prices. Understanding changes in consumer spending and worldwide economic trends, combined with the knowledge of what to expect in livestock markets, will help you prepare for the coming years.” The 2016 through 2018 plenary sessions were followed by a “Market Outlook Extended Q&A” for small group discussion.

124. Until 2016, first AMI and then NAMI held an Annual Meeting and Outlook Conference each fall. The NAMI website described the 2015 annual meeting as “a great networking and educational opportunity for the entire industry” with presentations on “key industry topics . . . as well as outlook sessions for 2016 and the member to member education provided by Issues Answers Action.” Scheduled presenters at the Annual Meeting and Outlook Conference have included Cameron Bruett of JBS in 2015, and Phil Clemens of The Clemens Family Corporation in 2016.

125. For years, NAMI also sponsored an annual “Meat Industry Management Conference.” NAMI promoted the 2015 meeting as focusing on a variety of topics, including “economics, and general business topics” and an “always popular Answers Actions session” that “provides structured member interaction on a variety of issues and topics.” The NAMI board met during the 2015 Management Conference.

126. In April 2017, NAMI replaced the Annual Meeting and Outlook Conference and the Meat Industry Management Conference with an annual “Meat Industry Summit.” In addition to education sessions, the summit has included, “networking opportunities and social events,” including a golf tournament, receptions, and an Issues, Answers, Actions Breakfast, as well as the annual Board of Directors meeting and what one publication described as “closed door committee meetings to discuss policies and association business.” The 2017 Summit included a presentation by John Nalivka of Sterling Marketing entitled “Economic Outlook for the Red Meat Industry,” described as an “analysis of supply and demand and price forecasts” to “cover all aspects of the supply chain, and help your business prepare for the years ahead.”

128. AMI sponsored the “International Meat, Poultry & Seafood Convention and Exposition” in 2009, 2011, and 2012. In at least 2009 and 2011, AMI conducted its business meeting during the Expo, electing members of its board of directors.

129. In January 2013, AMI’s International Meat, Poultry & Seafood Convention and Exposition was integrated into the “International Production and Processing Expo” (“IPPE”), co-produced by AMI and poultry and feed trade associations. Promotional materials for the 2014 IPPE indicated that attendees included Defendants Clemens Food Group, Hormel Foods, Hillshire Brands, JBS, Seaboard, Smithfield Foods, Triumph Foods, and Tyson. After AMI’s 2015 merger into NAMI, NAMI became (and still is) a presenting sponsor, along with the poultry and feed trade associations.

G. ~~F.~~ Abnormal pricing during the Class Period demonstrates the success of the collusive scheme.

130. ~~71.~~ Beginning in 2009, the pork industry showed abnormal price movements.

According to aggregate prices published by the USDA, the hog market year average price was at or below $50 every year between 1998 and 2009, before increasing to $76.30 in 2015.

Between 2008 and 2013, the increases in the average retail price of pork far outpaced the increases in CPI for total food purchases.<sup>38</sup> The following graph shows the unprecedented increase in swine prices beginning in 2009, and continuing into 2014, before declining in mid-2014:

<sup>38</sup> See U.S. I.T.C. Office of Industries, “Pork and Swine industry and Trade Summary” at 37 (Pub. ITS-11 Oct. 2014) (pegging the increase in food purchase CPI at 9% during that period and, whereas the average retail price of pork increased by 24%).

As this figure shows, pork prices began increasing in 2009, spiked in 2014, and continuously remained at higher levels compared to the years prior to 2009.

131. 72. Publicly available (~~albeit aggregated~~ data) also shows that during this period, ~~whole price variation/risk was almost entirely shouldered by farmers, while the~~ pork integrators' earnings increased steadily over the years 2009 to ~~2017~~, 2016, with a slight decline in ~~2017~~ 2017, demonstrating an unusual increase in profits that was resistant to changes in price during the conspiracy period:

H. ~~G.~~ Capacity and supply restraints during the Class Period.

~~73.~~ As demonstrated in ~~the following chart~~ Figure 4 below, at several points during the Class Period, the pork integrators acted in a concerted way to decrease supply. In 2009, 2010, and again in 2013, the pork industry cut production. <sup>39</sup>

133. (The production dip in 2014 reflected the adverse impacts from the deadly pig disease, porcine epidemic diarrhea virus, which took place in the spring and summer of 2014.) The decreases in production largely occurred after decrease in pork wholesale prices.

<sup>39</sup> See U.S. I.T.C. Office of Industries, “Pork and Swine industry and Trade Summary” at 2, 19 (Pub. ITS-11 Oct. 2014) (noting that slaughter capacity utilization generally declined between 2008 and 2013 and stating that the number of animals kept for breeding by U.S. swine producers declined between 2008-2010, and that in 2012 the number of animals kept for breeding remained 5 percent below the level observed in 2008).<sup>4</sup>

134. At the same time, pork producers were further reducing domestic supply by devoting more and more production exports to overseas markets. The U.S. has been a net exporter of pork products for a long time, but those exports have comprised a much larger share of total production in the past ten years. As shown in Figure 5 below, less than ten percent of U.S. pork production was exported in 2000. By 2011, more than twenty percent was being exported. Sending production overseas is another way in which Defendants can reduce the supply available to U.S. markets, thereby driving up costs.

136. These supply restriction strategies were a part of a coordinated antitrust conspiracy by competitors to reduce and restrict supply in order to artificially, fix, raise, and stabilize the price of pork. While Defendants went to great lengths to maintain the secrecy of their unlawful anticompetitive agreements, they disclosed certain of their supply restriction efforts in public earnings calls and other sources. As with their use of Agri Stats, Defendants exploited these public statements in order to communicate their planned supply restrictions to their competitors in furtherance of the conspiracy.

137. In October of 2008, Hormel CEO Jeffrey Ettinger confirmed during an earnings call that he expected to see a 3% reduction in overall pork supply in 2009.<sup>40</sup>

138. During Hormel's first quarter earnings call in January 2009, Mr. Ettinger once again communicated that he expected supply to decrease in 2009. Hormel CEO Jody Faragan confirmed that Hormel would "certainly look for opportunities particularly in January where we could reduce the numbers that we had going through."<sup>41</sup>

139. ~~74~~. In public earnings calls, Defendants made statements regarding their intentions to either stabilize or decrease supply (although gave false reasons for this stabilization). For example, in May 2009, Larry Pope, the CEO and President of Smithfield, stated:

140. In terms of chronology of how I say we proactively managed this business, in February of last year--February of '08, not February of '09--we made the decision with the over-supply of livestock to take the leadership position and start reducing our sow herds because we saw the overproduction and the oversupplies of the hogs into the market, which was driving our hog market down. We started a reduction of 50,000 sows and 1 million of our 18 million pigs, we started taking out of the system.~~27~~<sup>42</sup>

141. ~~75~~. In May 2009, Hormel confirmed that "[w]e see a contraction in the overall supply of hogs for the year but not as much as we'd originally anticipated. And I would expect that prices will be somewhat less than last year, but higher than what we've

142. ~~76.~~In June 2009, the CEO of Smithfield stated that the current cuts were not enough and more were needed to “fix” the hog industry and that “[s]omebody else has got to do something”:

One of the things that we’re doing is managing what you can do and the 3% relates to one of our operations and it’s our -- I’ll tell you, it’s our Texas operation that sells pigs to seaboard. Seaboard knows that. . . . That 3%, let me say that, our 3% will not fix the hog industry. That part I’m confident of. Somebody else has got to do something. We cut 13%. The first 10% didn’t fix it. I don’t think us going from 10 to 13 is going to fix the hog business.<sup>2944</sup>

143. In August of 2009, Tyson Foods, Inc. Chief Operating Officer, James Lochner, confirmed:

Hog supplies will be down in Q4 year over year but still adequate. We do expect to see liquidation accelerate and pork production decrease into 2010 and beyond to improve producer profitability. We will continue to watch forward hog supplies to drive more exports, monitor demand, focus on cost, mix, and pricing to generate revenue.<sup>45</sup>

Mr. Lochner continued, “Looking forward in the pork segment we will see a gradual decline in hog supplies to the first half of our fiscal year with additional year over year declines into Q3 and Q4.”<sup>46</sup>

144. Wesley Mendonça Batista, CEO of JBS USA, in August of 2009 communicated the start of JBS USA’s participation in hog liquidation efforts. Mr. Batista stated, “we are seeing the start, we are seeing some increase in—not increase, we are seeing some more [hog] liquidation. So we think we will continue to see the margin in the processing side strong this whole year. But in the pork producers, it will be a real challenge for them, producers for, in the next quarters.”<sup>47</sup>

145. ~~77.~~ In September 2009, the CEO of Smithfield stated that he had conversations with “sizable large producers” and that they would be doing some liquidation:

We can’t solve the problem. But the answer to that is yes, I have had conversations with several sizable, more than sizable large producers, in fact very large producers, and I would tell you they are doing some liquidation. But again, I don’t think they can solve it.

I think this industry has got to solve it collectively. I do believe everyone is now looking, and when I’m talking to people who are financially extremely strong and they are cutting back, that’s got to be a statement about those people who are not financially strong. But the answer is, yes, there are others cutting back. We’re not the only one.<sup>~~30~~48</sup>

146. ~~78.~~ In March 2010, when asked about fourth quarter and 2011 volumes for pork, Larry Pope, the CEO of Smithfield, indicated that further cuts were still to come:

Hog volumes for the rest of the fiscal year. That’s going to have the impact starting next fiscal year when there is going to be 13,000 less. But I think we’ll pick up some of that in our other operations. But I think 8,000 or 9,000 or 10,000 of those a day will disappear from our operations and that represents about 8% of our, 8% of the hogs will be down. That’s for also the fresh pork side.<sup>~~34~~49</sup>

<sup>~~30~~48</sup> See Event Brief of Q1 2010 Smithfield Foods Earnings Conference Call (Sept. 8, 2009) (emphasis added).

147. On March 8, 2010, Wesley Mendonça Batista mentioned Defendant JBS' reduction in hog supply as a driver of profitability, and stated that these efforts were resulting in protein shortages. Mr. Batista stated:

[A] combination of reduction in supply for cattle, for hogs and for chicken and in the other hand the improvement and increase in consumption in the emergent markets we are very optimistic about our business, about the margin that we will see a strong demand and this reduction in supply, so we believe that we will see some shortage in protein going forward.<sup>50</sup>

Despite having the economic incentive (increased demand) to increase supply and capture market share, JBS adhered to Defendants' agreed upon scheme to limit hog supply.

148. ~~79. The pork producers~~ Defendants acknowledged access to information that allowed them to know that the supply of pork would not be increasing. For example, in December 2010, Larry Pope, the CEO of Smithfield, stated:

We certainly compare ourselves to our competitors as best we can. Given the information we think we have public plus what we think we know privately, how many they kill, what their processing levels are and things like to. This is information you may not quite have. And we have been certainly impressed with how our competitors have been able to achieve margins that we have not been able to achieve because our fresh pork competes very competitively with theirs.<sup>3251</sup>

Smithfield had access to competitively sensitive information from its competitors through the Agri Stats reports, which allowed it to know confidential supply information from its competitors.

149. ~~80.~~ Supply level information regarding competitors allowed them to know that supply would not increase in the future, given the lifecycles of the animals. In February 2011, Tyson's chief operating officer (COO) stated:

I think there is still a widely held belief that our Beef and Pork profitability isn't sustainable. I want to again explain why we don't believe that is true. If we look at supply, current cattle and hogs production levels can't change much in 2011 because of the limits of the animals' lifecycles.

Again, the way to know the level of production in the industry would be through the provision of competitively sensitive information by a competitor of Tyson.

150. ~~81.~~ In the face of ever-increasing margins, when asked whether the type of profits would continue, in March 2011, Smithfield publicly signaled to its competitors that it would not increase capacity, even in the face of the clear profitability:

LARRY POPE: We closed last night at nearly $64 for hogs. Yet we are projecting over the next 90 days we will be up another 20% from that. I mean those are big numbers to get the meat prices in the retail and food service case to cover that.

HEATHER JONES: So you are just striking a note of caution because you know it can't stay this way indefinitely; but it's not that you foresee this reversion to that norm over the near term?

BO MANLY: I don't see it on the horizon, on the foreseeable horizon. We are still going to have -- should have good margins, but I can't believe ~~==~~

LARRY POPE: Heather, we are sitting here today, we are halfway -- closing in on halfway through our fourth quarter, and we have had very good margins through February and March, through today. We have got double-digit margins today.

BO MANLY: It will correct itself over the long run, because this type of return on investment would attract capital, would attract expansion, and we kill more pigs and drive the margins lower. So it will either happen by itself or someone is going to build a plant.

HEATHER JONES: All right, okay. Thank you.

LARRY POPE: You get two-year visibility on that, though. You get to know when somebody is building a plant because they have got to file for a permit and they have actually got to build the thing. . . . And by the way, we are not going to build a new plant to expand capacity.<sup>3352</sup>

<sup>151.</sup> ~~82.~~In March 2012, the VP of Finance and chief accounting officer of Smithfield stated that no one in the industry would be “real excited about adding capacity” when the losses of 24 to 36 months ago were considered:

<sup>152.</sup> Nonetheless, you see some pretty significant fluctuations. Just two weeks ago, I think we had -- there were rumors the Chinese buying corn, and boom, all of a sudden the corn market is up $0.20, $0.30. So there is some volatility there. And what I would tell you is that keeps a lid on pork production. The pork guys in the United States have not forgotten 24 or 36 months ago when there were significant losses in the industry.

There is no one going to be real excited about adding capacity, adding sows at a

153. In August 2012, Defendant Indiana Packers' president Gary Jacobson commented that the pork company "runs 'on a sold-out position'"<sup>54</sup> Mr. Jacobson, attempted to make excuses for reducing the supply of pork. "It's been a good strong, steady growth," Jacobson said. "Indiana is in the heart of corn country and pigs are the heart of corn consumption, so business has been very good. This summer's heat waves and drought are likely to affect pork prices starting this fall and into the spring," said Jacobson. High corn prices make pig farming less profitable, he explained, both reducing the supply of pork for processing plants come next spring and making the pork that is on the market more expensive. In the short run, high temperatures make pigs less hungry and they don't fatten for market as quickly as they would in a cooler year. That means farmers either wait longer to bring their swine to market or take them to market as usual but at a lighter weight. "So, the impact has not been really significant as far as production as a whole," Jacobson said, but it remains to be seen how the drought will change the plant's supply in the coming months."<sup>55</sup>

154. In December 2013 Robert Manly of Smithfield emphasized that coordinated industry action was necessary to "balance supply and demand:"

So I think you really need to look at the overall industry balance of supply and demand to be able to determine, and the industry move prices up and collectively as a group. We've got limited ability to do it ourselves if the rest of the industry doesn't follow, but the consumer tends to be willing to pay

proportionately higher values for their pork meat when small increments of supply are withdrawn from the marketplace.<sup>56</sup>

155. On May 15, 2013, Wesley Mendonça Batista continued to demonstrate Defendant JBS' ability to constrain the pork market. During a quarterly earnings call he stated that "[i]n pork, given some restrictions in supply we have been able to pass price through the system and we are seeing good margins in our pork business. . . . So this is a clear sign that we have been able to pass price increase in chicken and pork and not in the same extent in beef."

156. Defendants further refused to increase their capacity and gain market share even when market fundamentals and economics dictated otherwise. For example, during the 2014 PEDv epidemic, which caused industry supply disruptions, Eric Haman, Defendant Clemens Food Group's communication manager, stated the disease "had a very minimal impact on our hog flow, especially when you compare it to others in the industry' Haman said. "That's one of the many benefits of raising hogs in Pennsylvania, since we have a much lower density of pigs than other states, which decreases the risk of (a virus) like this."<sup>57</sup> Yet, in furtherance of their conspiracy Defendant Clemens did not take advantage of having few PEDv infected pigs. Instead of attempting to increase their market share, they stayed the course with their fellow competitors.

157. In February 2017, Seaboard and Triumph Foods announced plans to expand their joint pork processing facility in Sioux City, Iowa, operated by their 50/50 joint venture

<sup>57</sup> See Kyle Bagentose, Pig Virus Has Ability to Affect Local Herds, Bucks County Courier Times (May 4, 2014).

Seaboard Triumph Foods, LLC, to include a second shift.<sup>58</sup> In announcing the potential second shift, Mark Porter, Seaboard Triumph Foods Chief Operating Officer, stated: “The timing of the expansion for a second shift is a result of growing demand for the Seaboard Foods line of quality pork products as well as ongoing growth in the industry.”<sup>59</sup> However, in furtherance of the conspiracy, Triumph/Seaboard postponed the addition of a second shift.<sup>60</sup>

L ~~H~~Overcharges due to the cartel were reflected in higher pork prices.

158. ~~83~~ The USDA has stated that high levels of market concentration allow the largest participants to extract more of the economic value from food transactions, but “consumers typically bear the burden, paying higher prices for goods of lower quality.”<sup>3561</sup>

159. ~~Pork is a commodity product in which the pork sold by competitors has no meaningful difference and is thus interchangeable. As such price is driven by the economic fundamentals of supply and demand. In the words of Tyson Foods, Inc. COO, James Lochner, “As you know decreased supply should be favorable to pricing.”<sup>62</sup>~~

160. By reducing, stabilizing and maintaining the supply of pork even in the face of increasing demand, Defendants' common goal was to increase the price of pork and their margins. In 2012 the CEO of Tyson reported that these efforts were successful, stating: "Well, what we've seen happen, and it's about evolving over time, is beef prices have inflated from a reduced supply, increased global demand, same with pork prices inflating from reduced supply and global demand, putting less domestic product on the market."

161. The volume of U.S. commerce in the pork industry is substantial and ranged from $18.9 billion to $26.4 billion from 2013 to 2016.

162. Each Defendant's annual sales of pork products are also very large. For example, in 2016 Smithfield reported $3.7 billion of fresh pork sales, and an additional $5 billion in packaged pork product sales. That same year, Tyson reported $4.9 billion in pork sales. With such enormous revenues, the ability to stabilize or increase the margin even in small amounts has an enormous impact on profits, resulting in substantial damages to class members.

163. ~~84.~~ The Bureau of Labor Statistics tracks commonly purchased products in its Consumer Price Index (CPI). Those prices show that the retail price of pork has increased substantially for consumers over the Class Period. For example, the price of a pound of bacon has increased from $3.57 at the end of 2009 to $5.60 at the end of 2017. The following figure shows the substantial increase in the price of bacon, particularly beginning in 2010.

166. ~~86.~~ Finally, the CPI for another commonly purchased consumer item, ham (excluding canned ham and luncheon slices) shows an increase from $2.16 at the end of 2009 to $2.91 at the end of 2017.

168. These price increases were caused by increased wholesale prices for pork.

~~87.~~ Given these market conditions, the overcharge due to Defendants' anticompetitive agreement to stabilize the price and supply of pork was borne in large part by ~~Plaintiff and the Plaintiff Class~~ Plaintiffs and the class of commercial food preparers they seek to represent.

J. ~~I.~~ Defendants actively concealed the conspiracy.

169. ~~88.~~ Throughout the Class Period, Defendants effectively, affirmatively, and fraudulently concealed their unlawful combination and conspiracy from ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and class members.

170. ~~89.~~ The combination and conspiracy alleged herein was fraudulently concealed by Defendants by various means and methods, including, but not limited to secret meetings, surreptitious communications between Defendants by the use of the telephone or in-person meetings in order to prevent the existence of written records, limiting any explicit reference to competitor pricing or supply restraint communications on documents, communicating competitively sensitive data to one another through Agri Stats - a “proprietary, privileged, and confidential” system that kept both the content and participants in the system secret, and concealing the existence and nature of their competitor supply restraint and price discussions from non-conspirators (including customers).

172. ~~90.~~ In 2009, the President of Agri Stats, Bryan Snyder, commented on how secretive the true nature of Agri Stats was when he stated:

173. Agri Stats has always been kind of a quiet company. There’s not a whole lot of people that know a lot about us obviously due to confidentiality that we try to protect. We don’t advertise. We don’t talk about what we do. It’s always kind of just in the background, and really our specialty is working directly with companies about their opportunities and so forth.<sup>~~36~~63</sup>

174. ~~91.~~ At the same 2009 presentation, when discussing “bottom line numbers” (a company’s net earnings), Mr. Snyder declined to display those numbers publicly, stating “I’m not going to display the actual bottom line to the group here just because of the confidentiality nature of the information.”<sup>~~37~~64</sup> And yet, despite refusing to show this information publicly, competitors were provided with the “bottom line numbers” of their competitors on a regular basis via the reports discussed above. public in general.

175. ~~92.~~ At other times, producers attributed the stability in the pork market to other reasons such as “good programs with our retailers” and “lower grain costs.” As Larry Pope, the CEO Of Smithfield stated in June 2012:

KEN ZASLOW: What evidence do you have to actually give you some confidence that fresh pork margins will improve sequentially throughout the year?

LARRY POPE: Strong exports, $71 hog today, good programs with our retailers, and lower grain cost in the future and a futures market that says the hog market's going to be fine. I guess beyond that, you've got chicken and beef that are going to be down significantly.

BO MANLY: And I think there is also some optimism that the US consumer may have some greater disposable income from less gasoline prices and improvement in the economy.<sup>3865</sup>

176. Not until recently was the fact of the pork industry's use of Agri Stats widely known or reported. An investigative article published in February 2017 by Bloomberg Businessweek suggested the conspiracy that began among Broiler producers and Agri Stats was being replicated in the pork industry.<sup>66</sup> The article reported that Agri Stats has . . . been branching out into the hog business, which has, over the past 30 years, started to look more and more like the chicken industry, with hogs being raised under contract for vertically integrated companies such as Smithfield Foods. It appears that demand for the service is strong. At a hog industry trade show in 2011, an Agri Stats employee pitched the

While Bloomberg Businessweek article did not conclude that pork producers were engaged in a horizontal conspiracy, it did suggest for the first time in a widely circulated article that the pork industry may have been using Agri Stats as a vehicle for collusion similar to the Broiler industry.

177. Only after the filing of a February 7, 2018, Second Consolidated and Amended Complaint by the End User Plaintiff Class in the In Re Broiler Chicken Antitrust Litigation, Case No. 1:16-cv-08637 (N.D. Ill.), was there a comprehensive presentation of the full scope of the confidential services that Agri Stats' provides to its clients in the Broiler industry.

178. The filing of that amended complaint, along with the February 2017 article by Bloomberg Businessweek disclosing the pork industry's use of Agri Stats, collectively disclosed the likelihood that the pork industry was using Agri Stats to share confidential industry information that could facilitate an anticompetitive conspiracy.

179. Plaintiffs and the members of the Class had neither actual nor constructive knowledge of the facts constituting their claim for relief. Plaintiffs and members of the Class did not discover, and could not have discovered through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until shortly before filing this Complaint. Defendants engaged in a secret conspiracy that did not reveal facts that would put Plaintiffs or the Class on inquiry notice that there was a conspiracy to fix prices for pork.

Throughout the Class Period, Defendants effectively, affirmatively, and fraudulently concealed their unlawful combination and conspiracy from Plaintiffs and class members.

180. Defendants' anticompetitive conspiracy, by its very nature, was self-concealing. Pork is not exempt from antitrust regulation, and thus, before these recent events Plaintiffs reasonably considered it to be a competitive industry. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of Defendants' pork prices before these recent events.

181. ~~93.~~ By virtue of the fraudulent concealment of their wrongful conduct by Defendants and all of their co-conspirators, the running of any statute of limitations has been tolled and suspended with respect to any claims and rights of action that ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the other class members have as a result of the unlawful combination and conspiracy alleged in this complaint.

Class Action Allegations

182. ~~94. Plaintiff brings~~ Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the "Nationwide Class"):

All entities that indirectly purchased pork from Defendants or co-conspirators in the United States during the Class Period for their own business use in commercial food preparation.

183. ~~95. Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs also ~~brings~~ bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to the common law of unjust enrichment and the state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws of the states and territories listed below (the “Indirect Purchaser States”)<sup>3968</sup> on behalf of the following class (the “Damages Class”):

All entities in the Indirect Purchaser States that indirectly purchased pork from Defendants or co-conspirators in the United States during the Class Period for their own business use in commercial food preparation.

~~96.~~ The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.”

185. Membership in the Classes is easily ascertained through purchase records maintained by members of the Classes or maintained by other businesses like food service distributors.

186. ~~97. Plaintiff reserves~~ Plaintiffs reserve the right to modify the class definition at a later date, including to add the first level of indirect purchasers.

187. ~~98. While Plaintiff does~~ Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, there are likely thousands of class members.

188. ~~99.~~ Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

<sup>3968</sup> The Indirect Purchaser States, for purposes of this complaint, are: ~~Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico~~ the states and territories for which there are claims listed in the Causes of Action section below.

- (a) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices of pork in the United States;
- (b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;

- (c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- (d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Count;
- (e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition laws, and/or state consumer protection laws, as alleged in the Second and Third Counts;
- (f) Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Count;
- (g) Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- (h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of pork sold in the United States during the Class Period;
- (i) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators actively concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Classes concerning Defendants' unlawful activities to artificially inflate prices for pork, and/or fraudulently concealed the unlawful conspiracy's existence from ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes;
- (j) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and
- (k) The appropriate class-wide measure of damages for the Damages Class.

189. ~~100.Plaintiffs~~Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes.

~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for pork purchased indirectly from Defendants and/or their co-conspirators. ~~Plaintiffs~~Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes.

190. ~~101.Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes.

~~Plaintiffs~~Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. ~~Plaintiff is~~Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

191. ~~102.~~The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

192. ~~103.~~Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in management of this class action. ~~Plaintiff reserves~~Plaintiffs reserve the discretion to certify the Damages Class as separate classes for each of the Indirect Purchaser States or as separate classes for certain groups of Indirect Purchaser States, should the Court's subsequent decisions in this case render that approach more efficient. Whether certified together or separately, the total number and identity of the members of the Damages Class would remain consistent.

193.

194. ~~104.~~ The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

195. Defendants have acted on grounds generally applicable to the Classes, thereby making final injunctive relief appropriate.

Causes of Action

Count One Violation of Sections 1 and 3 of the Sherman Act (on behalf of ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

196. ~~105. Plaintiff incorporates~~ Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

197. ~~106.~~ Defendants and their unnamed co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Sections 1 and 3 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1, 3).

198. ~~107.~~ During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially allocate customers, rig bids and raise, maintain and fix prices for pork, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

199. ~~108.~~ The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for pork.

200. ~~109.~~ As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and other similarly situated class members in the Nationwide Class that purchased pork have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supracompetitive prices for pork.

202. ~~110.~~ In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including, but not limited to, the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

203. ~~111.~~ Defendants' conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition in the market for pork has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;
- (b) Prices for pork provided by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and
- (c) ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased pork indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

204. ~~112.~~PlaintiffPlaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for pork purchased indirectly from Defendants and the co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

205. ~~113.~~ Defendants' contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

206. ~~114.~~PlaintiffPlaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against Defendants, preventing and restraining the continuing violations alleged herein.

Count Two

Violation of State Antitrust Statutes
(on behalf of ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

208. ~~115.Plaintiff repeats~~ Plaintiffs repeat the allegations set forth above as if fully set forth herein, and each of the state-specific causes of action described below incorporates the allegations as if fully set forth therein.

209. ~~116.~~ During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a continuing contract, combination or conspiracy with respect to the sale of pork in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce and in violation of the various state antitrust and other statutes set forth below.

210. ~~117.~~ The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain at artificially supracompetitive prices for pork and to allocate customers for pork in the United States and its territories.

211. ~~118.~~ In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, defendants and their co- conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

(a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States during which they agreed to price pork at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by ~~plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to pork provided in the United States; and (b) participating in meetings and trade association conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

212. ~~119.~~ Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, increase, maintain, or stabilize prices of pork. As a direct and proximate result, ~~plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition and paid more for pork than they otherwise would have in the absence of defendants' unlawful conduct. This injury is of the type the antitrust laws of the above states were designed to prevent and flows from that which makes ~~defendants~~ Defendants' conduct unlawful.

213. ~~120.~~ In addition, ~~defendants~~ Defendants have profited significantly from the conspiracy.

Defendants' profits derived from their anticompetitive conduct come at the expense and detriment of ~~plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class.

214. ~~121.~~ Accordingly, ~~plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class in each of the following jurisdictions seek damages (including statutory damages where applicable), to be trebled or otherwise increased as permitted by a particular jurisdiction's antitrust law, and costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to the extent permitted by the following state laws.

215. ~~122.~~ Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing, willful and constitute violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

216. ~~123.~~ Arizona: Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of Ariz. Rev. Stat. §44-1401 et seq. Defendants' conspiracies had the following effects: (1) price competition for pork was restrained, suppressed and eliminated throughout Arizona; (2) pork prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized

218. ~~124.~~California: Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §16700 et seq. During the Class Period, defendants and their coconspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §16720. Each defendant has acted in violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of pork at supracompetitive levels. The violations of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §16720 consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among defendants and their co- conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of pork. For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including, but not limited to, the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above, and creating a price floor, fixing, raising, and stabilizing the price of pork. The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects: (1) price competition for pork has been restrained, suppressed and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) prices for pork provided by defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, stabilized, and pegged at artificially high, noncompetitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and (3) those who purchased pork indirectly from defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition. As a result of defendants' violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §16720, ~~plaintiff~~

During the Class Period, ~~defendants~~ Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected commerce in the District of Columbia. By reason of the foregoing, ~~defendants~~ Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of D.C. Code §28-4501 et seq. Accordingly, ~~plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under D.C. Code §28-4501 et seq.

261. Missouri: Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unlawful, unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.010, et seq. Defendants engaged in the conduct described in this Class Action Complaint in connection with the sale of products containing pork in a market that includes Missouri. During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Missouri commerce and consumers. Defendants agreed to, and in fact did, fix, control, and maintain at artificial and non-competitive levels, the price at which pork was sold, distributed, or obtained in Missouri, which conduct constituted unfair practices in that it was unlawful under federal and state law, violated public policy, was unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, and caused substantial injury to Plaintiff and the members of the Damages Class. Defendants concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to Plaintiff and the members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for pork. The concealed, suppressed, and omitted facts would have been important to Plaintiff and the members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of products containing pork. inflated prices for products containing pork. The foregoing acts and practices constituted unlawful practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act. Rev. Stat. § 358-A:1, et seq. Defendants sold the ~~Pork~~pork at Issue in New Hampshire and deceived ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and Class Members in New Hampshire into believing that the ~~Pork~~pork at Issue were competitively priced. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) pork at Issue price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Hampshire; (2) pork at Issue prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Hampshire; (3) ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class, who resided in New Hampshire and/or purchased the ~~Pork~~pork at Issue in New Hampshire were deprived of free and open competition in New Hampshire; and (4) ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class, who resided in New Hampshire and/or purchased the ~~Pork~~pork at Issue in New Hampshire paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for the ~~Pork~~pork at Issue, in New Hampshire. During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed pork at Issue in New Hampshire, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Hampshire commerce and pork purchasers. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured. unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. §

57-12-1, et

seq. In New Mexico, price-fixing is actionable as an “unconscionable trade practice” under N.M. Stat. § 57-12-2(E) because it “takes advantage of the lack of knowledge ... of a person to a grossly unfair degree” and also results in a “gross disparity between the value received by a person and the price paid.” Defendants had the sole power to set that price, and ~~plaintiff~~plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class had no meaningful ability to negotiate a lower price from wholesalers. Moreover, ~~plaintiff~~plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing pork because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge, and there was no alternative source of supply through which ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class could avoid the overcharges. Defendants’ conduct with regard to sales of pork, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of pork at supracompetitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of ~~plaintiff~~plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class. Defendants’ unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) pork price competition was restrained, suppressed and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) pork prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for pork. During the Class Period, ~~defendants~~Defendants’ illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce and consumers. 267. ~~161.~~New York: Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq. Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which pork were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class. Defendants and their coconspirators made public statements about the prices of pork that either omitted material information that rendered the statements that they made materially misleading or affirmatively misrepresented the real cause of price increases for pork; and Defendants alone possessed material information that was relevant to consumers, but failed to provide the information. Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New York class members who indirectly purchased pork were misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for pork or the price increases for pork were for valid business reasons; and similarly situated consumers were affected by Defendants' conspiracy. Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing pork would have an impact on New York consumers and not just Defendants' direct customers. Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing pork would have a broad impact, causing commercial and institutional indirect food preparer class members who indirectly purchased pork to be injured by paying more for pork than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful trade acts and practices. The conduct of Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of customers and commercial and institutional indirect food preparers in New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) pork price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) pork prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for pork. During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed pork in New York, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce and consumers. During the Class Period, each of Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed pork in New York. ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349(h).

Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy could not have succeeded absent deceptive conduct by ~~defendants~~Defendants to cover up their illegal acts. Secrecy was integral to the formation, implementation and maintenance of ~~defendants~~Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy. Defendants committed inherently deceptive and self-concealing actions, of which ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs could not possibly have been aware. Defendants and their co-conspirators publicly provided pretextual and false justifications regarding their price increases. The conduct of ~~defendants~~Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) pork price competition was restrained, suppressed and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) pork prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) ~~plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for pork. Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for pork at Issue. Count Four*Unjust Enrichment<sup>4069</sup>
(on behalf of ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

285. ~~170.Plaintiff incorporates~~Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations set forth above as if fully set forth herein.

286. ~~171.~~To the extent required, this claim is pleaded in the alternative to the other claims in this Complaint.

287. ~~172.~~Defendants have unlawfully benefited from their sales of pork because of the unlawful and inequitable acts alleged in this Complaint. Defendants unlawfully overcharged privately held commercial and institutional indirect food preparers, which purchased pork at prices that were more than they would have been but for Defendants' unlawful actions.

288. ~~173.~~Defendants' financial benefits resulting from their unlawful and inequitable acts are traceable to overpayments by ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

289. ~~174.~~PlaintiffPlaintiffs and the Damages Class have conferred upon Defendants an economic benefit, in the nature of profits resulting from unlawful overcharges, to the economic detriment of ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class.

<sup>4069</sup> Unjust enrichment claims are alleged herein under the laws of ~~Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico~~the states for which claims are alleged in Counts Two and Three above.

290. ~~175.~~ Defendants have been enriched by revenue resulting from unlawful overcharges for pork while ~~Plaintiff has~~ Plaintiffs have been impoverished by the overcharges they paid for pork imposed through Defendants' unlawful conduct. Defendants' enrichment and ~~Plaintiffs~~ Plaintiffs' impoverishment are connected.

291. ~~176.~~ There is no justification for Defendants' retention of, and enrichment from, the benefits they received, which caused impoverishment to ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class, because ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class paid supracompetitive prices that inured to Defendants' benefit, and it would be inequitable for Defendants to retain any revenue gained from their unlawful overcharges.

292. ~~177.~~PlaintiffPlaintiffs did not interfere with Defendants' affairs in any manner that conferred these benefits upon Defendants.

293. ~~178.~~ The benefits conferred upon Defendants were not gratuitous, in that they constituted revenue created by unlawful overcharges arising from Defendants' illegal and unfair actions to inflate the prices of pork.

294. ~~179.~~ The benefits conferred upon Defendants are measurable, in that the revenue Defendants have earned due to their unlawful overcharges of pork are ascertainable by review of sales records.

295. ~~180.~~ It would be futile for ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class to seek a remedy from any party with whom they have privity of contract. Defendants have paid no consideration to any other person for any of the unlawful benefits they received indirectly from ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class with respect to Defendants' sales of pork.

296. ~~181.~~ It would be futile for ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class to seek to exhaust any remedy against the immediate intermediary in the chain of distribution from which they indirectly purchased pork, as the intermediaries are not liable and cannot reasonably be expected to compensate ~~Plaintiff~~Plaintiffs and the Damages Class for Defendants' unlawful conduct.

297.

298. ~~182.~~ The economic benefit of overcharges and monopoly profits derived by Defendants through charging supracompetitive and artificially inflated prices for pork is a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful practices.

299. ~~183.~~ The financial benefits derived by Defendants rightfully belong to ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class, because ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class paid supracompetitive prices during the Class Period, inuring to the benefit of Defendants.

300. ~~184.~~ It would be inequitable under unjust enrichment principles under the law of the District of Columbia and the laws of all states and territories of the United States, except California, Ohio and Indiana, for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the overcharges for pork derived from Defendants' unlawful, unfair and unconscionable methods, acts, and trade practices alleged in this Complaint.

301. ~~185.~~ Defendants are aware of and appreciate the benefits bestowed upon them by ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class. Defendants consciously accepted the benefits and continue to do so as of the date of this filing, as pork prices remain inflated above pre- conspiracy levels.

302. ~~186.~~ Defendants should be compelled to disgorge in a common fund for the benefit of ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class all unlawful or inequitable proceeds they received from their sales of pork.

303. ~~187.~~ A constructive trust should be imposed upon all unlawful or inequitable sums received by Defendants traceable to indirect purchases of pork by ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class. ~~Plaintiff~~ Plaintiffs and the Damages Class have no adequate remedy at law.
